Privacy Notice

Protecting your personal information is important to WesTel Systems. As your telecommunications provider, we protect Customer Proprietary Network Information (CPNI), which includes information about the telecommunications services you use and how those services are configured.

Federal law gives you the right to have your CPNI protected. WesTel Systems uses CPNI only as permitted by law, including to provide and improve your services and offer related services. We do not sell your personal information.

We may allow trusted service providers, such as billing or technical-support vendors, limited access to information when necessary to provide services to you. These providers are required to protect that information.

You have the right to limit the use of your CPNI for marketing purposes. You may deny or withdraw permission for this use at any time, and doing so will not affect the services you currently receive from WesTel Systems.

To ask questions about your privacy, review or update your information, or request limits on the use of your CPNI, contact WesTel Systems at 800-352-0006.

For more information about how WesTel Systems collects, uses and protects your information, please review our complete Privacy Notice at WestelSystems.com/privacy-notice/.
